a look back in time – Donn Arden's “HELLO HOLLYWOOD, HELLO!”

Join NWHP at Bruka Theater as we lunch and visit with former “Hello Hollywood, Hello!” cast members who danced and sang in this fabulous stage show, brought to Reno 1978 at the MGM Grand Hotel (now the Grand Sierra Resort). This is the production that gave Reno world-wide exposure for having the largest physical stage and show cast in the world.

Whether you actually saw the show or have just read or heard about it, the new MGM Grand Hotel and the stage show it premiered are generally accepted as a historical milepost that changed Reno forever. You will be entertained by former “Hello Hollywood, Hello!” performers who will give you the “inside scoop.”

- See actual costumes worn by the dancers and share backstage stories
- Hear performers comment on the often misunderstood public perception of showgirls
- Learn about the historic magnitude of this spectacular show and how it impacted Northern Nevada

This is a part of Reno's history that you won't want to miss. A delicious box lunch and beverage will be provided, as well as a complimentary glass of wine.
