DAWN
Winter days are sometimes grey,
But they don't begin that way;
The snow is lavender with dawn
And morning shadows softly drawn.
—Irene Bruce.

SUNSET
Nevada sunsets have no death
And are not born, like all the rest,
They are Master Painter's breath
With all the rainbow colors blest.
—Irene Bruce.